

BE TACTFUL USING COMPLIMENTS

Having tact is the ability to deal with others without offending them. It is the ability to be honest but to use words that don't hurt the other person's feelings. See the positive instead of focusing on the negative.

By emphasizing the positive you can provide tactfully honest answers that do not upset anyone. Look at the other person's body language and facial expressions to know if you are making them sad or uncomfortable. Can you deal with a situation honestly, but considerately?

HAVE TACT! SEE THE POSITIVE INSTEAD OF FOCUSING ON THE NEGATIVE.

GAME CHALLENGE: Do you have tact? Challenge your family or friends to draw a self-portrait in five minutes. Then everyone has to give one nice compliment about the drawing.

Please return with signatures. Good luck!
